NEWSLETTER

Interior spaces are not all about the colour of the walls and furniture.

Small details such as door handles add that final spark to your interior and make your living space sophisticated.

Dear Reader,

I am delighted to bring to you the latest edition of our Laydex newsletter. I trust you are finding these informative and that any queries you might have are being dealt with to your satisfaction by our Team.

As we enter the Autumn season, we have focussed this issue on some of our interior products which hopefully will be of interest as the home improvement season gathers pace. Inside this issue we give you an insight into some of the Fortessa points of sale we can offer your store as well as providing a gentle reminder of some of the best sellers in this premium range. We are also delighted to bring to your attention a really impressive online visual tool that our decorative stone manufacturers, STEGU kindly offer. This tool allows your customers to see the different Stegu Stone variations applied in-situ on a tablet or laptop and help them make a quicker, more informed decision.

If you're interested in any of these products or anything else within please feel free to get in touch with us directly today.

Thanks as always for your valuable business.

Kind regards,
Peter Woods | Managing Director

FORTESSA DISPLAY STANDS

The Fortessa Header Board is the ideal way to display our main selling door handles in your store.

Elegant and classy, the board will show products at their best! Header boards can be customized to meet your needs.
